

LEILA HELLER GALLERY.

Cooper, Anneliese. "Week in Review: From Le Brun to Cave, Our Top Visual Arts Stories," ARTINFO, (September 5, 2014) .

BLOUINARTINFO

Week in Review: From Le Brun to Cave, Our Top Visual Arts Stories

by Anneliese Cooper 05/09/14 1:55 PM EDT

Sebastian Errazuriz's "Chicken Lamp," 2014, on view at Cristina Grajales Gallery as part of his show "Sculptural Furniture."

(Courtesy of the artist, Christina Grajales Gallery, and Salon 94, New York)

- We rounded up 15 must-see museum shows in New York this fall.
- Scott Indrisek debunked the notion that conceptual artist Darja Bajagic's porn fixation makes her crazy.
- Daniel Kunitz checked in with painter Christopher Le Brun, current president of Britain's Royal Academy of Arts.

- Anneliese Cooper premiered an exclusive clip of "Art and Craft," the upcoming documentary about notorious art forger Mark Landis.
- Clémentine Deliss, director of the Weltkulturen Museum in Frankfurt am Main, delivered this manifesto on post-ethnographic museums in November of 2013.
- Ashton Cooper reminded us to visit Rachel Lee Hovnanian's pop-up cereal bar in SoHo.
- Alanna Martinez offered a sneak peek at ART21's upcoming season, featuring German painter Katharina Grosse.
- Wendy Vogel talked to Gwangju Biennale artistic director Jessica Morgan about this year's incandescent program.
- Scott Indrisek considered the shameful history explored in Nick Cave's found object sculptures.
- Justine Kurland, who has two projects debuting this month at Mitchell-Innes & Nash, answers 20 questions in this week's Questionnaire.