MOST COHERENT: Leila Heller Gallery, New York

The mind of a curator is felt in the booth belonging to Leila Heller Gallery, where a canvas of steel and cast metal by Rachel Lee Hovnanian elegantly complements a multi-panel work by Ran Hwang. The two artists had consecutive solo exhibitions at the gallery this past spring, both of which performed well. Gallerist Lauren Pollock credited the successful pairing to the "sense of repetition" in both bodies of work. The not-quite 2D works, she told ARTINFO, "are both also stunning in terms of texture and the sense of three-dimensionality."
